

MUROMURA

BRAND DIRECTION 01 · FLUJO VIVO

The sound was always there.
Muromura lets you hear it.

A minimal identity for a device that translates subtle bioelectrical variation into a musical experience.

01. Brand idea

Muromura makes the invisible audible. The living source is the protagonist; the device is the bridge. The identity therefore avoids literal leaves, music notes, headphones and conventional waveforms. It should feel quiet, tactile, curious and alive.

Core thought

The sound was always there. Muromura simply gives you a way to listen.

Brand attributes

Quiet confidence - restrained rather than loud. Organic technology - engineered, but warm. Wonder without pseudoscience - poetic language grounded in what the product actually does. Presence - an invitation to pay attention.

Positioning language

Prefer: listen, living signal, bioelectrical activity, translate, movement, variation, connection, hidden, subtle, alive.
Avoid factual claims that plants literally compose songs, speak a language, have emotions, or emit a 'sacred frequency'. Those ideas can inspire metaphor, but should not be presented as scientific fact.

02. Logo system

The mark is a single continuous gesture. It suggests signal, breath, growth and musical movement without becoming a literal waveform or leaf. Its irregular cadence is intentional: living systems vary.

Primary lockup

Use the symbol above the MUROMURA wordmark when there is enough space. For small hardware engraving, app icons and social avatars, the symbol can stand alone.

Clear space

Keep clear space around the mark equal to approximately one full stroke-wave height. Do not place text, ports, seams or other graphic elements inside this area.

Do not

Do not add leaves, notes or electrode graphics to the mark; do not compress or stretch it; do not add gradients, shadows or outlines; do not force perfect geometric symmetry; do not place it over visually noisy photography without a quiet field.

03. Color

The palette is based on forest shadow, bark, stone and unbleached paper rather than bright 'eco green'. This keeps the brand closer to design hardware than to gardening products.

Recommended balance: 55-65% Bone/off-white, 20-30% Deep Forest or Living Ink, 10-15% Sand/Moss. Let photography supply the richer natural colors.

04. Typography

The wordmark direction is a light, widely tracked geometric sans. The broader system should combine clarity with a small amount of editorial warmth.

Primary direction - geometric sans

Suggested families: Neue Haas Grotesk, Suisse Int'l, Avenir Next or a carefully chosen modern grotesk. For a freely available starting point, test Manrope or Inter. Use Regular/Medium for interface and body copy; Light/Regular with generous tracking for brand headlines.

Optional editorial accent

For campaign headlines or printed stories, a restrained serif can add an almost botanical/editorial quality. Keep it secondary; the product and app should remain sans-led.

Typographic behavior

Short headlines. Generous negative space. Sentence case for communication. Uppercase with wide tracking only for small labels, packaging details and the primary wordmark. Avoid overly futuristic fonts and overtly 'wellness' typography.

05. Voice & communication

Muromura should speak as an invitation to notice something, not as a gadget explaining itself. The tone is calm, precise, slightly poetic and never mystical at the expense of truth.

Messaging territories

Hidden presence: The sound was always there.

Attention: Listen closer.

Living connection: Hear what's alive.

Nature as performer: Let nature play.

Translation: From living signal to music.

Example product copy

Connect Muromura to a plant. It senses subtle changes in its bioelectrical signal and turns those variations into an evolving musical experience. Every session is shaped by a living source.

Writing rules

Use few words and strong pauses. Explain the technology plainly when precision matters. Let the emotional layer live in headlines, photography and experience. Avoid 'revolutionary', 'AI-powered' unless materially relevant, 'plant emotions', 'plant consciousness', and unsupported claims about healing or sacred frequencies.

06. Visual world

Photography should feel observational rather than decorative: macro plant textures, electrodes as tiny points of contact, hands connecting the device, morning or late-afternoon natural light, close crops and large areas of darkness or negative space.

Product design

The mark works best as a subtle deboss, laser engraving or low-contrast print. Favor tactile matte finishes, warm off-whites, deep near-black greens and a restrained use of one secondary natural tone. The hardware should feel like a small object you are happy to leave visible beside a plant.

Motion

Animate the symbol slowly. The line should breathe or change amplitude almost imperceptibly, as if a signal is being discovered rather than generated. Avoid equalizer bars and fast music-reactive animation.

App

The symbol alone is the strongest app-icon direction. UI surfaces should be calm and sparse, allowing the music visualization and plant imagery to carry the movement. Use the palette as atmosphere rather than decoration.
